11. Marina personnel have shown me where the gas tank is located and how to transfer gas tanks if needed. They have instructed me that the consumption of fuel is determined by several things ie; number of personnel on board (weight factor), wind conditions and boat speed. I know I must continually check my fuel tanks and upon switching tanks must begin my return trip to the MacDill Marina. I understand that an additional fee of $10.00 per hour will be assessed if the MacDill marina has to dispatch a vessel to bring me fuel. Charge starts upon departure from MacDill marina and stops upon return of vessel to the dock. Fuel is charged according to the rate per gallon.
12. When returning to Marina I will stop at the gas pump to refuel unless notified by marina personnel due to lighting. When refueling is complete, I will ensure the vessel is cleaned and then request inspection by marina personnel.
